INFORMATION ABOUT CSED July 2023

The Child Support Enforcement Division (CSED) is the state agency responsible for a number of services related to support orders.

What services does CSED provide?

- Establish and enforce an administrative child support order, if there is not already a court order. CSED will also automatically open a case (and therefore enforce the order) if the children are receiving public assistance or if the children are in state custody.
- Enforce a child support order from the court, if the parent or guardian applies for CSED services.
- If CSED established the child support order, review the amount of child support at the request of either parent, to see if it needs to be increased or decreased. CSED will make the necessary changes to an administrative order. If the order is a court order, CSED will advise clients to address these requests with the court.
- Arrange for genetic (DNA) testing where paternity is not agreed upon.
- Locate absent parents.
- Enforce health care coverage for children if it's available to the paying parent through employment or union membership.

How does a parent apply for CSED services?

You must complete an application either through the court or by submitting an online application at www.childsupport.alaska.gov. Your application should provide as much information as possible about the other parent. It must include an affidavit of payments already made or received. Be sure to attach your current custody and support order, and any previous orders you may have in the case.

How does CSED enforce child support orders?

To collect support payments, CSED will notify the paying parent's employer to withhold child support from the parent's wages and to send the money to CSED. CSED will then either give that money to the other parent, or repay the state for public assistance benefits paid on behalf of the children. CSED can also issue orders to "withhold and deliver" other assets, including commissions, retirement checks, bank accounts, Alaska Permanent Fund Dividends, Native Corporation Dividends, IRS tax refunds, stock dividends, and income-producing property.

CSED can file liens against the paying parent's property, as well as revoke state occupational and driver's licenses if that parent does not pay child support. CSED can sue the parent in court for failure to pay child support. CSED charges interest on late payments the last day of the month.

If late or missed payments (called "arrears") continue to go up, certain enforcement actions will automatically start when the amount owed reaches a certain point:

- At $50, CSED will report to the PFD office.
- At $150 for TANF arrears and at $500 for non-TANF arrears, CSED will report to the Federal Offset Program (FOP).
- At $1,000, CSED will report to the Credit Bureau.
- At either $2,500 or 12 months unpaid, CSED will report to the Passport office and start property liens.

Note: Native Corporation Dividend funds can only be used to pay debt owed to a parent/guardian.

It is required by federal law that CSED use wage withholding for monthly payments. CSED will tell the paying parent's employer the amount of the child support order, and the employer will send the money each month to CSED. The monthly payment will be broken out in partial payments corresponding to the pay schedule. For example, if the parent is paid twice a month, CSED will ask the employer to garnish half of the monthly child support payment each pay period. Child support payments will not be collected through wage withholding if the paying parent is self-employed or if the court order states something different.

How long does it take for the non-paying parent to receive support payments made to CSED?

CSED will mail the payment to the non-paying parent, or deposit it directly to the parent's bank account, within two business days.

How does a parent sign up for direct deposit?

You may enroll or change your direct deposit information online through https://my.alaska.gov/. Select "CSED Member Services Portal" under the Services tab. Call (907) 269-6900 if you have questions or need assistance.

How can I find out about the payment status of my case?

There are several ways to check on the status of your child support payments:

- Call the KIDSLINE at (907) 269-6900 in Anchorage, or (800) 478-3300 outside of Anchorage (select option 2)
- Click on KIDS Online at www.childsupport.alaska.gov, located under "Online Service"
- Log into your CSED Member Services Portal through https://my.alaska.gov/

You will need to have your member ID number, which can be found in the introductory letters to both parents. You can also request your member ID number by calling (907) 269-6900 during business hours.

Can CSED also collect spousal support?

Yes, in cases where both child support and spousal support have been ordered, CSED will collect and enforce both types of support obligations. However, CSED cannot collect and enforce spousal support only, nor can CSED establish orders for spousal support. This must be done through the courts.

What if either parent moves out of state?

CSED can continue to collect payments and can coordinate enforcement of the support order with the child support agency in the other state.
